

A.M. Anderson

W. Uegama

December 4, 1975

John Barton: Creative Woodworking

SELKIRK REGIONAL ARCHIVES

In meeting with Mr. Barton, I determined that he will be unavailable this year for a program in Creative Woodworking since he has taken employment with a High School in New Denver teaching woodworking.

However, he is extremely interested, as always, in pursuing the concept of a School of Creative Woodworking in cooperation with Selkirk College, and would like to keep the option open for the following year. His appointment with the school is for this year only and he will be available for next year.

I suggest that the proposal to develop the school be reactivated in the winter semester with a view to taking it to a Program Planning Committee in early summer or late spring.

h.

WU/jr